MENTORING TEAM

Rozena Varghese, PharmD, CMPP™

Scientific Manager/ Medical Writer, MedVal, LLC • Director, Medical Communications Fellowship

Rozena Varghese received her Doctor of Pharmacy degree in 2013 from the Ernest Mario School of Pharmacy at Rutgers University, where she completed experiential rotations at Pharmacy Times Medical Communications, the Drug Information Center at Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital, and Novartis Pharmaceuticals. Upon graduation, she joined the MedVal/PharmaWrite team as the 2013-2014 Medical Communications Postdoctoral Fellow. During the fellowship program, Rozena gained experience in project management, competitive surveillance, publication planning and gap analyses, advisory board organization and executive summary development, presentation delivery, social media blogging, and the development of slide decks, abstracts, posters, and manuscripts across various therapeutic areas. She also had the opportunity to complete an external rotation as a medical writing consultant in the Worldwide Medical Content department at Bristol-Myers Squibb. Rozena completed the 2013-2014 Resident and Industry Fellow Teaching Certificate Program at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy (PCP), University of the Sciences in Philadelphia. Throughout her time in the certificate program, Rozena taught in lectures and small group settings at PCP, mentored PCP and Rutgers students in APPE rotations at MedVal, delivered a CE program for pharmacists at PCP, and compiled a teaching portfolio.

In her current role as scientific manager and medical writer at MedVal, Rozena continues to expand on her experience in medical publications, primarily oncology. As the fellowship director, she ensures that the fellows receive a well-rounded education in medical publications with as much hands-on experience as possible. She also serves as the primary preceptor for 6th-year PharmD students from Rutgers University and the University of the Sciences in Philadelphia. Rozena is a Certified Medical Publications Professional (CMPP™) and is a member of ISMPP, AMWA, IPHo, ASHP, and APhA.

Michael Platt, MS, CMPP™

President, MedVal, LLC • Executive Vice President of Jobson Medical Information, LLC (JMI)

Michael Platt has more than 20 years of industry experience and a broad knowledge of the pharmaceutical, biotechnological, and healthcare fields, including cardiology, allergy and asthma, infectious disease, gastroenterology, urology, rheumatology, oncology, and HIV. His background in pre-launch, launch, and post-launch activities includes advisory boards, market surveillance, sales training, publication planning, internet initiatives, and live and enduring Continuing Education (CE) programs, including symposia.

As President of MedVal, Michael is responsible for the day-to-day management of the company's budgets and staff, and works with Chief Operating Officer Rosie Lynch in building relationships with experts and investigators, developing the organization's strategic vision, and fostering strategic alliances with other Wicks/Jobson companies. Prior to joining MedVal, Michael was Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of Fission Communications, a New York-based medical communications company he co-founded in 2001. He was also Director of Business Development at Ventiv Health Communications and has held positions at Genecom and QED International. Michael is a member of the Healthcare Marketers Communication Council (HMC) and North American Association of Medical Education and Communication Companies, Inc (NAAMECC). He is a Certified Medical Publication Professional and has a Master's degree in biology, and in 2006 was named as one of PharmaVOICE magazine's "100 Most Inspiring People in the Life Sciences Industry."

Louis P. Greco, RPh, PharmD, CMPP™

President, PharmaWrite, LLC • Executive Vice President of Jobson Medical Information, LLC (JMI)

Lou Greco came to PharmaWrite with a strong background in pharmaceutical science and management from his tenure at Rutgers University College of Pharmacy and in retail pharmacy. Lou's primary responsibilities at PharmaWrite begin with providing clients with strategic direction and advocacy development (eg, recruiting and building relationships with opinion leaders). As well, he manages multiple teams of talented writers, researchers, project managers, editors, meeting planners, and artists in initiating and developing effective medical communications programs, including satellite symposia at national meetings, product publication plans, speakers' training meetings, advisory board meetings, CME publications, product monographs, and several other types of meetings and publications. In addition, Lou oversees PharmaWrite's extensive information technology group. He also plays a key role in PharmaWrite's plan to expand in new therapeutic areas. In 2011, Lou was also named Executive Vice President of Jobson Medical Information, the parent company of PharmaWrite. As such, Lou works with the corporate executive team to develop and manage corporate strategy, objectives, and finances. In 2009, Lou assumed the role of Managing Director of PharmQD.com, a pharmacy social and professional network. His responsibilities include overseeing network launch, handling P&L, and coordinating marketing tactics, technology, and content development across the network.

Lou received his Bachelor of Science degree in Pharmacy from Rutgers University College of Pharmacy in Piscataway, New Jersey. He returned to the College of Pharmacy to earn his Doctor of Pharmacy degree in 2001. Prior to joining PharmaWrite, Lou was Director of the Office of Continuing Education at Rutgers, where he served as Adjunct Professor in the Department of Pharmacy Practice and Administration. He has also worked in the field as a Pharmacist-in-Charge and staff pharmacist at a number of pharmacies in New Jersey. His management skills have been refined over the years through his work on various academic and experiential committees at Rutgers University. Currently, Lou is working to earn his graduate certificate in Pharmaceutical and Medical Device Law and Compliance at the Seton Hall School of Law in New Jersey. Lou is a member of the International Society of Medical Publication Professionals (ISMPP), currently serving on the Membership Committee.

Rosie J. Lynch, RPh, CMPP™

Chief Operating Officer, MedVal, LLC • Managing Director, PharmaWrite, LLC

As Chief Operating Officer of MedVal, Rosie Lynch is in charge of expanding the organization's strategic vision, developing new business, maintaining thought leader relationships, and managing strategic alliances with other members of the Jobson family of companies. Rosie has over 20 years of medical communications experience developing educational, strategic, and tactical initiatives for the pharmaceutical industry. She was CEO and President at another Jobson company for 8 years and Vice President of Scientific Affairs for 8 years, where she oversaw the development and execution of a wide variety of medical communications programs across all phases of brand lifecycles. Rosie's marketing and business development expertise, scientific background, and managerial skills have enabled her to design and implement programs with proven return on investment. She was responsible for starting the pharmacy internship program through Rutgers College of Pharmacy many years ago.

Rosie earned her Bachelor of Science degree at Rutgers University College of Pharmacy and is licensed to practice pharmacy in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. She is a lifelong member of the Hematology Oncology Pharmacists Association (HOPA). She recently completed serving a 3-year term on the Board of Trustees of the International Society for Medical Publication Professionals (ISMPP) as Treasurer. Rosie is a Certified Medical Publications Professional (CMPP). Rosie began her career at Schering in Drug Information, where she handled all healthcare-related inquiries and provided training to the sales force on key medical components of their sales areas. She then moved into professional services in respiratory and allergy medicine. Rosie also worked in marketing development at Schering, where she was involved in the highly successful launch of Claritin.

Rob Gilbert, STL, CMPP™

Director, Scientific Communications, PharmaWrite, LLC

Robert Gilbert, Director of Scientific Communications at PharmaWrite, has an uncommon commitment to quality and client satisfaction. His 19 years of experience with PharmaWrite have included management of 20 pub plans for 27 products (7 launch; 5 line extensions) for 14 pharmaceutical companies. This work has included successful publications in JAMA, The Lancet, Annals of Internal Medicine, and many other top-tier journals. Robert has also managed over 50 advisory board, speaker training, and regional consultant meetings. In addition, he has managed multidisciplinary summits with specialists, PCPs, nurses, NPs/PAs, claims processing/office managers, patients, and MCO representatives, as well as numerous CE symposia, including a series of 10 multidisciplinary CE meetings for 2,000 physicians, nurses, and pharmacists. Robert has also written regulatory reports submitted to the US Food and Drug Administration and facilitated workshops on medical writing for clinical investigators and on creating presentations for medical liaisons. He has also directed the creation of clinical and caregiver websites for patient advocacy organizations and assisted them in the identification of thought leaders, with a special focus on identifying specialist “up & comers” through analysis of recent abstract submissions. Robert has also overseen the creation of medical response letters, AMCP Dossiers, formulary kits, and international scientific product monographs for launch products, and he has helped develop speakers bureau websites and facilitated live and archived speaker training webcasts.

Robert’s academic experience enables him to establish an easy rapport with investigators and other members of the academic and scientific community, resulting in relationships that prove to be highly effective in meeting the needs of PharmaWrite’s clients. Since joining the PharmaWrite team, Rob has worked in the areas of analgesia (adult and pediatric) for both acute and chronic conditions (eg, low back pain, osteoarthritis, fibromyalgia, neuropathic pain, sports injuries), drug abuse, epilepsy, anti-infectives, hypophosphatasia, and metabolic disorders. He is a Certified Medical Publication Professional and member of the International Society for Medical Publication Professionals (ISMPP), the International Publication Planning Association (TIPPA), and an associate member of the Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE). Robert studied in Europe for 8 years and remains proficient in French, German, and Dutch. His academic expertise is in text hermeneutics, classical literary theory, and several ancient languages (Greek, Latin, Hebrew, Aramaic, Moabitic). Robert currently lives in Hunterdon County in New Jersey with his wife, Diane, and two children, Michael and Daniel.

Sherri D. Jones, PharmD, CMPP™

Scientific Director, Senior Medical Writer, MedVal, LLC

Dr. Sherri Jones has over 13 years of industry experience. As a medical writer, she has extensive experience in the development of multiple publication formats, including primary research and review articles, as well as slide presentations for physician education and other communication needs. Sherri also has experience in publication planning for products at all stages of development. She has worked in several therapeutic areas, including neuroscience/mental health, oncology (breast cancer, non-small cell lung cancer, glioma, acute myeloid leukemia, adult T-cell leukemia/lymphoma, and chemotherapy-induced nausea and vomiting), Dupuytren’s disease, multiple sclerosis, endocrinology, women’s health, and dermatology.

Sherri received her Bachelor of Science and Doctor of Pharmacy degrees from the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, University of the Sciences in Philadelphia (USP), Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. She began her career in the retail pharmacy setting, first as a staff pharmacist then as a pharmacy team leader for CVS Pharmacy in the Ann Arbor, Michigan area. She then went on to practice in the long-term care setting at Foote Long Term Care Pharmacy, Jackson, Michigan, as a consultant pharmacist. In this position, Sherri regularly provided clinical information and educational in-services to physicians and nursing professionals. Prior to joining MedVal, Sherri served as a Scientific Director for a medical communications company, where she worked with clients to develop comprehensive plans for scientific publications and oversaw a team of several medical writers to successfully implement publication plans.

Jennifer Kent, PhD, CMPP™

Scientific Director/Senior Medical Writer, MedVal, LLC

Dr. Jennifer Kent partners with clients to provide strategic insight and execution of a variety of projects, including publication plans, publication development, and clinical study documents, as well as other regulatory submissions in the areas of hematology/oncology, oncology supportive care, gastrointestinal disorders, and men’s health. Jennifer also works with clients, physicians, and other health care professionals to manage and develop content for advisory boards targeted to different audiences, including leading oncologists, oncology nurses, and pharmacy directors covering a variety of therapeutic areas such as breast cancer, management of chemotherapy-induced nausea and vomiting, glioblastoma, management of mucositis, multiple myeloma, non-small cell lung cancer, prostate cancer, and management of venous thromboembolism.

Jennifer has experience in researching and creating primary and secondary peer-reviewed articles; abstracts, posters, and slides for major medical meetings; and various other written materials such as retrospective analyses, registry reports, meeting summaries, internal white papers, competitive surveillance reports, and educational programs in manuscript or slide format. Areas in which she has written include management of type 2 diabetes, sleep research, erectile dysfunction, tissue disorders such as Peyronie’s disease and Dupuytren’s contracture, and hematology/oncology—specifically breast cancer, myelodysplastic syndrome, acute myeloid leukemia, management of chemotherapy-induced nausea and vomiting, metastatic liver cancer, prostate cancer, and management of venous thromboembolism. Prior to joining MedVal, Jennifer was a post-doctoral fellow with Dr. Nigel Fraser at the University of Pennsylvania in the Department of Microbiology. While in Dr. Fraser’s laboratory, Jennifer studied the regulation of gene expression of herpes simplex virus type 1 during the lytic and latent phases of infection. Several abstracts and articles from this research were presented at local and international virology meetings and were published in peer-reviewed journals such as the Journal of Virology and the Journal of Neurovirology. Jennifer earned her Bachelor of Arts degree in Biology from Wittenberg University. She went on to receive her PhD from the University of Delaware, where her dissertation involved research on the impact of recombinant vaccines against an avian oncogenic herpesvirus.

Sarah Mizne, RPh, PharmD, CMPP™

Medical Writer, MedVal, LLC

As a medical writer, Dr. Sarah Mizne works closely with clients and authors to develop scientific content for publications including original research articles, supplements, and abstracts; posters; slide decks for meeting presentations, training materials, and advisory boards; competitive surveillance reports; and executive summaries. She also has experience in publication planning and scientific publication platforms. During the past 5 years, Sarah has developed extensive writing experience in endocrinology and oncology and has worked on publications in neuroendocrine tumors, Cushing’s syndrome, and acromegaly. Other therapeutic areas she has worked in include psychiatry, sleep disorders, women’s health, and pharmacokinetic drug-interactions.

Sarah received her doctor of pharmacy degree from the University of Tennessee College of Pharmacy and completed a post-doctoral industry fellowship in medical communications with PharmaWrite/MedVal. She also holds a Bachelor of Arts in Anthropology from the University of Tennessee. In addition, Sarah holds pharmacy licenses in the states of New Jersey and New York and has worked on a per-diem basis for a local Pharmacy chain. She is also a member of the American Medical Writers Association and the International Society for Medical Publication Professionals.

MENTORING TEAM

Megan McEntire, PharmD, RPh, CMPP™

Manager, Scientific Communications, MedVal, LLC

After graduating from East Tennessee State University with a Bachelor of Science in Chemistry, concentration in Biochemistry, Megan McEntire worked in the chemical industry. However, her passion was to help people in the healthcare field, so she returned to further her education at the Bill Gatton College of Pharmacy at East Tennessee State University, where she received her Doctor of Pharmacy degree in 2011. Megan's passion for helping people on a larger scale led her to the pharmaceutical industry, where she reaches more people by communicating medical information to doctors and patients.

Megan completed the 2011-2012 PharmaWrite/MedVal Medical Communications Postdoctoral fellowship program. During her fellowship she gained experience in publication planning, developing scientific manuscripts, planning and implementing logistics for advisory board meetings, competitive surveillance reporting, and conducting gap analyses and KOL analyses in the therapeutic areas of pain management, women's health, bipolar disorder, rheumatoid arthritis, osteoporosis, and oncology. She was the first fellow to obtain her teaching certificate from the University of the Sciences College of Pharmacy in Philadelphia. She joined MedVal in 2012 as an Associate Manager of Scientific Communications and in 2013 she received her Certified Medical Publication Professional (CMPP) credential through ISMPP. She is a member of APhA, ASHP, AMWA, IPHO, and ISMPP and serves on the ISMPP Membership Committee. Megan's current role as Manager of Scientific Communications enables her to interact with clients and key opinion leaders on a personal basis to facilitate dissemination of medical knowledge.

Maryah Haidery, RPh, PharmD

Medical Writer, MedVal, LLC

Dr. Maryah Haidery's current responsibilities as a medical writer at MedVal/PharmaWrite include competitive surveillance reporting, project management, publication planning, clinical manuscript and regulatory writing, gap analyses, and slide deck development. Her areas of primary focus include oncology, pain management, and rare diseases.

Maryah graduated from Rutgers University with a Bachelor of Science in Molecular Biology/Biochemistry. She spent nearly 8 years as a researcher in preclinical drug discovery at Johnson and Johnson and Caliper Life Sciences before deciding to pursue her doctorate in pharmacy at Temple University School of Pharmacy in Philadelphia. While at Temple, she conducted research and published articles in peer-reviewed journals as well as completing clinical clerkships in both medical information (at Janssen Pharmaceuticals) and medical writing (at Medidata Managed Markets). After graduating from Temple, Maryah became the 2015-2016 Medical Communications Postdoctoral Fellow at MedVal/PharmaWrite. The fellowship program gave her experience in analyzing and presenting scientific data, working effectively on an interdisciplinary team, and tailoring medical knowledge to suit a variety of audiences in order to provide the most accurate and appropriate medical information to healthcare professionals. The academic teaching certification component of the fellowship allowed her to serve as an Adjunct Clinical Instructor at the University of the Sciences in Philadelphia. While there, she advanced her teaching skills by developing lectures, leading discussion groups, precepting students, and presenting CE programs for pharmacists. For her efforts, she was nominated for the Outstanding Adjunct Faculty of the Year Award. Maryah is a member of ISMPP, AMWA, IPHO, ASHP, and APhA.

2016-2017 Fellow

Rachel Brown, PharmD, MPH

Postdoctoral Fellow, MedVal, LLC/PharmaWrite, LLC

Dr. Rachel Brown's responsibilities as Medical Communications Fellow at MedVal/PharmaWrite include competitive surveillance reporting, project management, publication planning, clinical and regulatory writing, slide deck development, gap analyses, graphic design, and social media communications. Additionally, she serves as an Adjunct Clinical Instructor at the University of the Sciences in Philadelphia.

Rachel received a Doctor of Pharmacy (PharmD) degree and Master of Public Health degree (MPH, concentrating in Biostatistics) from Bill Gatton College of Pharmacy at East Tennessee State University. During her time at East Tennessee State, she completed 16 credit hours of research electives, authored a research manuscript, and earned an Excellence in Research designation on her doctorate. Her public health education provided coursework in epidemiology, data analysis, grant development, health policy, and healthcare administration. Rachel spent a year working for the College of Pharmacy as a Clinical Skills Lab Assistant, during which time she led small group discussions, provided individual tutoring, graded assignments, proctored exams, and coordinated learning activities for pharmacy students. As part of her public health field experience, Rachel authored a successful $1,000,000 grant proposal to construct a new day center for the homeless population of Johnson City, Tennessee.

In addition to her pharmacy and public health education, Rachel has nearly a decade of experience in graphic design and marketing, and has combined her pharmaceutical and public health knowledge with her creative skillset to create a variety of educational and promotional pieces, including posters, brochures, banners, postcards, graphs, slide decks, and presentations.
